

NAME:

Sally

E

DATE:

Good hook!

LEO and Jack were scared half to death, they lived in California and were going through their first earthquake. Their parents had told them about earthquakes and what to do if there was one, but it was much scarier in person. After the earthquake Jack said to his brother, Leo "What was that?!" "An earthquake, what else would it be?" Jack said sarcastically. "No, like why did it happen?" Leo asked. "Hmm, I'm not sure," said Jack "I bet the library has books on earthquakes!" The brothers went to ask their parents if they could go to the library, but their dad said "We actually have a book on earthquakes here at home." "Really, and it says why they happen and everything?" asked Leo. "Of course" said Leo's dad. "Hold on I'll go grab it!" said Leo's mom. After a couple minutes, noises in the attic and a few crashing sounds Leo's mom came back with a small paper back book labeled "All About Earth" in dark green and sky blue letters. Leo's mom gave the book to Jack. Jack skimmed the book and then said, "It says earthquakes happen because Leo doesn't clean his room!" "Jaaack!" Leo screamed. "Fine" Jack sighed. "Tectonic plates can shift and collide and shape together, causing earthquakes." said Jack. "I guess that makes sense, but I kinda wanted to go to the Library." said Leo.

Sully

Ap 2.2

—The End